President's Report – Hughie Gaynor.

At last the shortest day is over and with the extra daylight available, I would imagine that members will be using that extra time to get their Projects finished for the 25th Be In It Competition to be held on Sunday 23rd August. I would encourage all members to seriously consider entering at least one piece of their work that has been completed in the period from September 2014 to date. Currently, we are updating the listing of the various categories that will be available to ensure that it will accommodate the increasing variety of work that I have spotted around the Club.

Whilst I accept that some members may be a little shy or hesitant or consider that their work is not up to scratch, I would encourage you to think again, as your work is probably the inspiration that other members may need to start their next Project.

Entries will be accepted on Friday 21st August (6:30pm to 8:30pm), Saturday 22nd August (9:30am till 12 noon) and Sunday 23rd August (10:00am till 11:am).

A big thank you to all those members who attended the Working Bee on Saturday 13th June. Apart from a good general clean up/dust off, the 4 major issues successfully tackled has certainly improved the ambience of the Club and surrounds:

- Removal of the timber stored along the fence line to permit easy access for the painters.
- Completion and tidy up of all wanted screws/various fasteners in separate boxes.
- Removal of "treasures" from the meal area.
- Rationalisation of another rack and disposal of "firewood grade treasures" that have been stored.

In last month's Newsletter was a photo of Henk Eyssens with a giant gavel that he had made as a special Project for a real estate agent. Whilst Henk had sent him a photo of its size he was completely gobsmacked of it's actual size when it was presented on Tuesday 16th June.

Thanks to Henk's expertise and craftsmanship this Project has resulted in a sizeable payment to the Club. See presentation on page 2.

It is not often that a manufacturer is able to provide goods ahead of the promised time. However, our long awaited solution to improving conditions in the machine shop arrived last Monday. Thanks to Rodney and Albert the heavy duty curtain was installed on Tuesday 23rd August and from comments by members on the day, it has had an immediate impact by practically eliminating those cold winds along with sawdust and leaves. When the heavy duty plastic strips unravel properly, it will be trimmed to make life a little easier for entry and exit.

Finally, the ongoing discussions with Council will result in the external walls of the Clubrooms being painted in either late July or early August, and a firm date and details of the successful contractor will be known shortly. In terms of improving safety on the driveway, agreement has been reached. Council is currently arranging for a Contractor to install a "no right hand turn sign" and appropriate bollards to improve line of sight along Glenfern Road.

 "Whilst we are most appreciative of members support in donating paint, please remember that we are strictly limited to using only plastic or acrylic type gloss paints only and under no circumstances can we use an oil based type product. If you have spare gloss acrylic type paints available that you are contemplating donating, our preference would be to restrict all donations to 1 litre tins which contain bright colours. Knox City Council "IMMERSE EXHIBITION".

30 EXHIBITIONS 30 DAYS 30 VENUES IN KNOX

Marita Lacota who is interning at Knox City Council with Jo Herbig would like to advise the Council is coordinating an arts exhibition program in November and are currently calling for artist expressions of interest.

The Immerse exhibition program, is a new initiative held over 30 days in 30 venues across Knox. Expressions of interest are now open for artists living, studying or working in the eastern suburbs of Melbourne. From mid November to mid December, residents of Knox and the wider community will be able to experience high quality professional work in a range of locations. From laundries to libraries, a diversity of spaces ensures this program will be widely accessible.

As part of this branded art trail a colour catalogue will be produced featuring the artists and their exhibitions. The catalogue will be distributed across the eastern region of Melbourne. Please visit www.knox.vic.gov.au/Immerse for more information. The applications end on the 30th of July.

Working Bee - a top job done!

As a result of everyone's efforts on the June Working Bee, the woodshed is looking Spick & Span and one member is going home with enough firewood to last all winter.

Workshop Notes - "members helping members"

Make a tool to set the height of a saw or router bit.

Phil Spencer who, as you know by now, is always sharing a lot of terrific articles, has this nice 'picture is worth a thousand words" TOP TIP

What's your WIP presently? Drop a line with pictures to the Club's email, to include in the Newsletter to share with the others. ...[Phil]

What's this important piece of Club Equipment for?

Members: Well, can you name it? Pause and think!

The only suggestions put forward to the Committee about Lindsay's creation, which, incidentally works really well when people remember to put in the bag, are:

- The black widow maker,
- Lindsay's revenge, and
- The anti gravity device!

The offer still stands that if a lucky member has a better idea, they will still receive lots of free saw dust. Please note: We should ask Lindsay to give us all a short version on his thoughts, and 'how to use' at the 1st July Meeting!

Bill's WEBSITE of the Month!

Bill Ireland is up to his usual internet research in the wee hours of the night finding intriguing woodwork related websites to share with all you "Woodies"... this time:

Wonderful Wooden Boxes

<https://youtu.be/mbbwo9unFwQ>

And here's a really interesting suggestion from member, Marek Gehrman, sharing some nice TABLE designs:

.....thanks for all contributions to Bill's column!

John Wolff – Wooden Snails

There were some raised eyebrows recently when toymaker John Wolff was spotted turning this batch of dodgy-looking objects. John assured us that the toy boys were not branching out into a new field, but the objects were in fact destined to become the tail ends for a batch of pull-along snails.

PS: Some members may not be aware of John's other talent, with Musical instruments. For those interested in some engineering heritage, Readers might well enjoy John's other passion, at his Web Museum at: <http://www.johnwolff.id.au/> Photos, courtesy of Club Members: Jean Wheatley and John Wolff.

Here's the finished snail, all painted up and ready to ROLL!
The backgrounds and interests of fellow members never stops intriguing me! ...[Ed]

Workshop Activities – Max Holt's up to tricks!

When the 'Walking Table" website article was discussed with our good member: Max Holt, he shared the above photo of a recent exercise in Chinese puzzle architecture, in the making of yet another "Max Holt Marvel" - a three legged table and matching stool!

On Ya Max! [Ed]

So..... what IS a "Walking Table"?

Just when you thought you'd seen everything about cunning logistics methods for moving things about, this chap, Wouter Scheublin, has come up with this design, for taking his table for a walk!

Workshop Notes - "members helping members" (CONT)

Phil Spencer has shared this TECHNICAL TIP:

Relieving Stress in Timber**

Often when milling timber to size with my thicknesser, I have left over night, stacked nicely milled to dimension timber, only to come out the next morning to find that it has twisted and warped.

After a bit of research and talking to a friend who makes traditional furniture, I discovered that in milling my timber I was releasing internal stresses in the timber, the wood would stay straight and not warp in its rough cut state, the state it was dried, but once the timber was re-sawed or milled, sometimes it would twist and distort overnight.

I found a unique and simple solution that works 90% of the time. During the resawing or milling process, I drop the wood from a height of about 1.5Metres onto the workshop's concrete floor. DO THIS BEFORE THE FINAL CUTS!

To prove to myself that this worked, I cut a piece of timber in half before I milled it one piece. I dropped it on the floor and the other piece I didn't. The piece I dropped on the floor stayed straight and untwisted when I left it overnight whilst the other piece did not.

Mrs Phil has got use to me throwing timber on the floor of the workshop now. When I started, she thought I was in a grumpy mood or having some sort of fit!

HUMOR - Nostalgia

One of the roughest jobs. In fact it was "THE PITS".

Being the sawyer on top was no cake walk. Handsawing perfectly straight lines walking a log is no easy task especially dense hardwood. But if you are were the sawyer on the bottom, in the pit, it really was the pits. Hard sawing, neck cramping from looking up all day, and man glitter er um, saw dust in your face and eyes all day too. This is how the lumber was cut for quite a spell though.

Picture, Courtesy of: BRACKETT & CO facebook page

Thanks to Phil Spencer for spotting this nostalgia Useful tip: We'll take the TOP job please! [...Ed]

HUMOR

You'll feel much more intelligent after reading this .

Brains of older people are slow because they know so much. People do not decline mentally with age, it just takes them longer to recall facts because they have more information in their brains, scientists believe.

Much like a computer struggles as the hard drive gets full, so, too, do humans take longer to access information when their brains are full.

Researchers say this slowing down process is not the same as cognitive decline. The human brain works slower in old age, said Dr. Michael Ramscar, but only because we have stored more information over time. The brains of older people do not get weak. On the contrary, they simply know more.

Also, older people often go to another room to get something and when they get there, they stand there wondering what they came for. It is NOT a memory problem, it is nature's way of making older people do more exercise.

SO THERE!!

There are probably more Woodies this should be shared with, but right now I can't remember their names. So, please forward this to your Woodies friends; they may be my friends, too! [... on behalf of a fellow "Woodie"]

HUMOR

Quickie in the Buses

There are two statues in a park; one of a nude man and one of a nude woman.

They had been facing each other across a pathway for a hundred years, when one day an angel comes down from the sky and, with a single gesture, brings the two to life.

The angel tells them, 'As a reward for being so patient through a hundred blazing summers and dismal winters, you have been given life for thirty minutes to do what you've wished to do the most.'

He looks at her, she looks at him, and they go running behind the shrubbery.

The angel waits patiently as the bushes rustle and giggling ensues. After fifteen minutes, the two return, out of breath and laughing.

The angel tells them, 'Um, you have fifteen minutes left, would you care to do it again?'

He asks her 'Shall we? She eagerly replies, 'Oh, yes, let's! But let's change positions. This time, I'll hold the pigeon down and you do business on its head.'

Thanks for the contributions[Ed]
